ESPA

UX/UI Design Internship (MYBUX1706)

Apply here

Role

This is a fantastic opportunity for a creative student with a passion for UX/UI design to gain practical, hands-on experience within this fast growing start up. Mentored throughout, you will assist the head of engineering in developing the website and online assets. The successful candidate will have full ownership of their projects and tasks, from initial concepts, through to design, testing and delivery. This will make an excellent addition to your CV and career aspirations. Great for someone with good UX/UI knowledge.

Tasks

- UX testing to discover any issues or bottle necks with our website

- Create new elements across our website. Buttons, progress bars, which can be used in a library to keep the website elements consistent.

- Design a new UI for the Booking and Quote system. Produce several designs that can used on the booking and quote system and can A/B test to discover a winning design.

- Assist with web translation on WordPress (machine learning and professional translations) – ensure that translations are accurate and translated words fit within buttons and web elements.

- Create static content designs and templates to be used in CDN (Content Delivery Network) set ups

Desired Skills

- Studying for a degree in Design in Communication and Media or similar

- Adobe Suite or Figma Experience

- WordPress experience

- Some design skills for creating web elements

Good to have but not essential:

- Experience with UI frameworks (either plain html/CSS or a framework like Angular, React) and an appreciation for optimising performance.

- AWS, Cloudflare, Source Control (Git)

- Experience within the Microsoft ecosystem, e.g.net, Visual Studio/Code, Azure

Host Company

This innovative host company was established in 2009 by the CEO, then in full time study, who had issues moving personal belongings between home and university. He has since grown this concept to offer a full door to door delivery solution to anyone who needs to send their bags and boxes around the world. Competitively priced, the service is used by students, expats, holidaymakers, people moving abroad and business people who wish to travel light and avoid excess baggage charges. Expanding rapidly, they have gone from just 3 UK routes to over 40 000 international routes taking in 200+ countries and are opening offices throughout Australia and the US.