Role

This is a fantastic opportunity for a creative student with a passion for front end developments and UX/UI to gain practical, hands on experience within this fast growing start up. Mentored throughout, you will assist in the head of engineering in developing the website and online assets.

The successful candidate will have full ownership of their projects and tasks, from initial concepts, through to design, testing and delivery. This will make a great addition to your CV and career aspirations. Great for someone with good UX/UI knowledge.

Tasks

- Design new elements across websites
- Assist with web translation on WordPress; machine learning and professional translations
- Create static content designs and templates to be used in CDN set ups

Desired Skills

- WordPress experience
- Experience with UI frameworks, either plain html/css or a framework like Angular, React, and an appreciation for optimising performance
- Experience within the Microsoft ecosystem, e.g.net, Visual Studio/Code, Azure
- Some design skills for creating web elements

Host Company

This innovative host company was established in 2009 by the CEO, then in full time study, who had issues moving personal belongings between home and university. He has since grown this concept to offer a full door to door delivery solution to anyone who needs to send their bags and boxes around the world. Competitively priced, the service is used by students, expats, holidaymakers, people moving abroad and business people who wish to travel light and avoid excess baggage charges. Expanding rapidly, they have gone from just 3 UK routes to over 40 000 international routes taking in 200+ countries and are opening offices throughout Australia and the US.
